The journal Science of Human Action and its editorial team presents volume 4, number 2, a publication that is intended to facilitate and approximate the debate in the investigation of administrative, economic and accounting sciences, so that it publishes the results of the investigations carried out by academic researchers; these spaces contribute to improve the critical discourse and participation among academia, companies, investors and researchers. In this issue we have the contribution of Laura Juliana Franco Montoya, Laura Cadavid Silva, Leidy Johana Orozco Grisales and Diego Alonso Ramírez Gómez, with the writing “Financial strategies for football as a value generator”, in this article the financial strategies of the Club Rionegro Águilas Doradas are presented, with the purpose of guaranteeing their permanence in Colombian professional football.

In the area of investment projects Yolanda Cuellar Medina, John Sebastián Caraballi Cañón and Carmen Alejandra Valderrama Cardozo present “Study of the investment of 10% of the resources allocated to the Science, Technology and Innovation Fund through the General System of Royalties, department of Caquetá”, in this shows how the impact of the science and technology project in department of Caquetá has been, in the period 2013-2015.

On the subject of taxes Daniela González Echavarría, Mónica María Trujillo Vargas and Mauricio Cortés Gil present a “Reflection on the study of the concept of tax justice”, in which the concept of tax justice is developed in relation to the financial, economic, and social issue, and also with the policies of equality, equity in payment of taxes to the nation’s treasury.

Oscar Yamith Duque Cruz and Gabriel Moreno publish “Model of self-assessment of competencies in the accounting area of public accounting students of the University of Santo Tomás through rubrics”, in which they perform a self-assessment in the training by competencies of public accountants, in the development of their profession.
Next, Ana María Zapata Mejía, Juan Carlos Agudelo Restrepo, Julián Esteban Flórez Correa and Carlos Eduardo Castaño Ríos present the “Relationships between life project and organizations: a metaphorical view from planning, training and accounting”. This article gives an account of the importance of planning in the accounting process and in financial results, so that the human being plays a preponderant role in the growth and sustainability of organizations.

Subsequently, María Victoria Builes Correa, Lina María López Serna and Mauricio Bedoya Hernández contribute with the research entitled “Agonistics and subjectivation: the experience of women who use information and communication technologies”. This paper shows the influence of ICT (Information and Communication Technology) on women’s relationships in society and in their life as a couple.

Andrea Gutiérrez Arenas and Luis Fernando Quintero Arango present the article “Innovation as a strategic asset for productivity in the technological age”, in which they develop the concept of disruptive innovation in companies that implement productive processes, in order to seek competitiveness and win markets in the international environment, based on new technologies.

Finally, Néstor Eduardo Flórez Oviedo discloses the impact that the business sector has had in relation to the learning of the students who study the process management in the formation of business administration.

Farley Sary Rojas Restrepo
Director – Editor of the Magazine